

The Blues Roots Of The Rolling Stones (2008)

Written by bluesever

Thursday, 18 March 2010 13:18 - Last Updated Sunday, 20 September 2020 09:19

---

The Blues Roots Of The Rolling Stones (2008)

01. Muddy Waters - Rolling Stones
02. Slim Harpo - I Got Love If You Want It
03. Elmore James - Dust My Broom
04. Chuck Berry - You Can't Catch Me
05. Bo Diddley - Diddley Daddy
06. Buddy Hollyu - Not Fade Away
07. John Lee Hooker - Boogie Chillun
08. Jimmy Reed - Honest I Do
09. Robert Wilkins - Rolling Stone - Part 1
10. Leroy Carr & S. Blackwell - When the Sun Goes Down
11. Slim Harpo - I'm A King Bee
12. Muddy Waters - Mannish Boy
13. B. B. King - Three O'Clock In The Morning
14. Bo Diddley - Who Do You Love?
15. Muddy Waters - (I'm Your) Hoochie Coochie Man
16. Robert Johnson - Stop Breakin' Down Blues
17. Blind Boy Fuller - Get Your Yas Yas Out
18. Robert Petway - Catfish Blues
19. Howlin Wolf - Evil Is Going On
20. Robert Wilkins - That's No Way to Get Along
21. Robert Johnson - Love In Vain
22. Muddy Waters - I Want To Be Loved

It's hardly a state secret that the Rolling Stones started out as a blues cover band in 1962, and that the blues has always underpinned their long career, even as they flirted at different times with pop, disco, and reggae touches. The blues was always the touchstone, and this 22-track collection dips into some of the band's obvious influences, beginning with the Muddy Waters track "Rolling Stone," a version of Robert Petway's "Catfish Blues" (which is also included here)

The Blues Roots Of The Rolling Stones (2008)

Written by bluesever

Thursday, 18 March 2010 13:18 - Last Updated Sunday, 20 September 2020 09:19

---

that gave the group its name, and reaching through to songs like Robert Wilkins' "That's No Way to Get Along," which appeared on the Stones' Beggars Banquet album as "Prodigal Son," and Robert Johnson's "Love in Vain," which the Stones' covered wonderfully on Let It Bleed. Even setting the Rolling Stones connection aside, this set makes for a varied little survey sampler of the different strains of the blues, from the swampy, lazy malaise feel of Slim Harpo's "I'm a King Bee" to the blastoff electric slide guitar riff that drives Elmore James' "Dust My Broom" (one could make a strong case that this track exemplifies everything the Stones aspired to be) and the Bo Diddley roots of Buddy Holly's "Not Fade Away," the song that first broke the Stones to an American audience. Again, it's no secret that these songs provided the template for the band that the Stones became, so in that sense this set isn't exactly revelatory, but hearing these original versions underscores just how strongly the Stones absorbed, expanded, and relied on the blues every step of the way. It is revealing, even if it isn't much of a surprise. ---Steve Leggett, allmusic.com download (mp3 @320 kbs):

yandex mediafire ulozto gett bayfiles

back