Recorded in 1960's and retaining the real roots of Cajun music, Nathan Abshire & the Pinegrove Boys is yet another good collection of Abshire's hits. Although there are other, seemingly better collections available, this is the only one containing the long-lost, much demanded "Mardi Gras Song," featuring the horses' hooves clopping at the beginning. --- floydsrecordshop.com

Nathan Abshire — accordion & vocals, with the Pine Grove Boys (including Dewey Balfa on several cuts) who became one of the most popular Cajun bands in the 1950s.
