

Bohuslav Martinu – Julietta (1964)

Written by bluesever

Tuesday, 05 March 2013 17:25 -

Bohuslav Martinu – Julietta (1964)

Setlist: I. 1. Hello, boy, hello 2. What's Up? 3. Will this go on for a long time yet? 4. You don't mind the sound of that instrument? 5. Hay! Musician 6. What's Up? 7. What hotel? 8. I believe ...it's a toy 9. Gentlemen, you are looking 10. Look! I was born in Perigueuz 11. Good Evening 12. My love is lost far away 13. Just like a star that returns onto the sky 14. Ah, I was afraid 15. She will come! She won't come! 16. Excuse me! Sir! 17. Good Evening, Ladies and Gentlemen! 18. Well now, the old folks are happy 19. Oh, at last! 20. Oh! Memories II. 1. We are alone 2. Mercy, friends, mercy! 3. They're not following me? 4. You've lost! 5. Now, now! What are you doing here? 6. Did you find her? 7. What's all that banging on the door? 8. Oh! That's you? 9. Lento 10. All empty! 11. Good morning, Sir! 12. Excuse me Sir! Is this the dream office? 13. Your real life is only to begin 14. oh, it was marvellous! 15. Didn't I wonder why you weren't coming today? 16. You are the engine-driver of the Orient Express? 17. Leave the door half-open behind you! 18. Arrival of figures in grey suits 19. Little Arab, Old Arab, Voices Julietta - Maria Tauberova Michel - Ivo Zidek Commissaire/Postman – Antonin Zlesak Man with the Helmet – Zdenek Otava Man in the Window – Vclav Bednar Little Arab – Ivana Mixova Old Arab – Vladimir Jedactik Birdseller – Jaroslava Prochazkova Fishmonger – Ludmila Hanzalikova Three Gentlemen – Miloslava Fidlerova, Eva Zikmondova, Eva Hlobilova Old Man Youth – Jaroslav Horacek Chorus & Orchestra of the National Theatre in Prague Jaroslav Krombholc - conductor Bohuslav Martinu composed his tenth opera, Julietta, subtitled The Dream-Book, during the second half of the year 1936. He finished it in January 1937, and its world premiere took place on the stage of the national Theatre in Prague, on 16 March of the following year. Martinu was present there on the opening night, and according to surviving period reports on the occasion was deeply moved by the opera's triumphant reception. Indeed, Julietta cast a mighty spell on Prague. The conductor then was Vaclav Talich, and the title part was sung by then famous diva, ravishingly beautiful and splendid-voiced Ota Horakova. Less than three decades from then this recording of the opera was made, featuring the day's star singers of the country's premier scene, its chorus and orchestra, under the baton of Jaroslav Krombholc. The performance delivered here by the soprano Maria Tauberova is truly dazzling, a creation raking alongside the artist's greatest achievements. Her principal male partner, equally brilliant, was Ivo Zidek. All

Bohuslav Martinu – Julietta (1964)

Written by bluesever

Tuesday, 05 March 2013 17:25 -

this said, here is a recording of Bohuslav Martinu's Julietta which deserves a pride of place in Supraphon's vintage collection – thanks to the endeavours of all the artists involved in its making. --- mdt.co.uk

downloads

uploaded: CD1 CD2

ziddu: CD1 CD2

4shared: CD1 CD2

divshare: CD1 CD2

hostuje: CD1 CD2

back