

Franz Xaver Mozart - Concertos for Piano & Orchestra nos. 1 & 2 (2004)

Written by bluesever

Thursday, 04 August 2011 18:33 - Last Updated Wednesday, 26 February 2014 09:58

Franz Xaver Mozart - Concertos for Piano & Orchestra nos. 1 & 2 (2004)

1. Concerto for piano & orchestra No. 1 in C major, Op 14: Allegro maestoso 2. Concerto for piano & orchestra No. 1 in C major, Op 14: Adagio 3. Concerto for piano & orchestra No. 1 in C major, Op 14: Allegretto (Rondo) play 4. Concerto for piano & orchestra No. 2 in E flat major, Op 25: Allegro con brio 5. Concerto for piano & orchestra No. 2 in E flat major, Op 25: Andante espressivo 6. Concerto for piano & orchestra No. 2 in E flat major, Op 25: Allegretto (Rondo)
Henri Sigfridsson – piano International New Symphony Orchestra Lemberg Gunhard Mattes - conductor

Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart's son Franz Xaver was born four and a half months before Mozart's death, after which the cash-strapped Constanze renamed him Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart Jr. and began to groom him as another prodigy. The younger Mozart had some success as a youthful touring performer, playing his father's concertos, and he found aristocratic patrons who hired him as a piano teacher. He ended up in Lemberg, which is now L'vov, Ukraine, and never succeeded in cracking the Viennese musical scene despite his famous name.

Franz Xaver was much less prolific than his father; about 50 of his pieces survive. The two piano concertos included on this disc show that he mastered Mozart's style but not his ease; everything is there but the sublime melodies. The transparent interaction between keyboard and orchestra that marks the elder Mozart's concertos, a marvelously lively thing that seems to arise from very modest resources, survives in the concertos of the son. The Piano Concerto No. 1, written when Franz Xaver was 14, is modeled on the more expansive type of Mozart concerto, perhaps the Piano Concerto No. 25 in C major, K. 503. The second concerto dates from seven years later and shows growth in the younger Mozart's piano skills; some brilliant passagework is grafted onto a rather plain thematic framework.

Little-known Finnish pianist Henri Sigfridsson and the International New Symphony Orchestra of

Franz Xaver Mozart - Concertos for Piano & Orchestra nos. 1 & 2 (2004)

Written by bluesever

Thursday, 04 August 2011 18:33 - Last Updated Wednesday, 26 February 2014 09:58

Lemberg make a good case for this music and display the sparkling smoothness that is its best point. Other recordings of these works are rare, so this one welcome -- who has read about Franz Xaver and not wondered what his music sounded like? ~ James Manheim, Rovi download: uploaded yandex 4shared mediafire solidfiles mega filecloudio nornar ziddu

back