

Maura Moreira - O Canto da Terra (1979)

Written by bluesever

Sunday, 01 June 2014 16:49 - Last Updated Sunday, 01 June 2014 16:54

Maura Moreira - O Canto da Terra (1979)

1. Cobra Grande 2. Tamba-Taja 3. Uirapuru 4. Tagnani-Tangre 5. Canções dos Índio Botocudos : Céu Grande 6. Chario 7. Aruanda 8. Estrela do Mar 9. O Fulu-ioree canto de Oxala 10. Yemanjá (Toada da Mãe D'Água) 11. Aba logum (Louvação a Ogum) 12. Se Meus Suspiros Pudessem 13. Hei de Amar Até Morrer 14. Casinha Pequeninha (Modinha do Século XX) 15. Morena, Morena 16. Viola Quebrada 17. Sodade 18. Tayeras 19. Prenda Minha 20. Capim de Pranta Maura Moreira – alto Sonia Maria Vieira - piano

The Brazilian contralto, (born: February 2, 1933 - Belo Horizonte, Brazil) Maura Moreira, got her first training at the Conservatório Mineiro de Musica and with Maximilian Hellmann. After she had won a national singing competition in Brazil, she could continue her training with the help of a scholarship of the Brazilian Board of Education at the Vienna's Musikakademie.

Still during her studies Maura Moreira made her debut in 1959 at the City Theatre of Ulm as Santuzza in Cavalleria Rusticana. She won then the Verdi Concur in Vercelli and made guest appearances now in Western Europe on the stage as in the concert hall. Apart from her stage repertoire she specialised in the oratorio and in the Lieder. She had important successes in the centres of the German music life, in Austria, Holland, Belgium, Spain, Portugal and in Switzerland. Among her big stage roles ranked Amneris in Aida, Eboli in Don Carlos by Verdi, Azucena in Troubadour, and Venus in Tannhäuser. She was also an important interpreter of contemporary music. Since 1962 she was for long time member of the Opera House of Köln. There she appeared, among other things, in February 1965 in the premiere of the opera Die Soldaten by Bernd Alois Zimmermann.

Maura Moreira's darkly shining voice capable of passionate drama is to be heard on several record labels. On Fono-Vox she sings the Alto Rhapsody by Johannes Brahms, Wesendonck-Lieder by R. Wagner, works of J.S. Bach, J. Haydn and Gustav Mahler, in addition

Maura Moreira - O Canto da Terra (1979)

Written by bluesever

Sunday, 01 June 2014 16:49 - Last Updated Sunday, 01 June 2014 16:54

Brangäne in selection from Tristan, on Wergo the integral modern opera Die Soldaten by B.A. Zimmermann.--- bach-cantatas.com download: uploaded yandex 4shared mediafire solidfiles mega zalivalka filecloudio

anonfiles
oboom

back