

Franco Corelli – Opera Arias

Written by bluesever

Thursday, 22 October 2009 15:12 - Last Updated Saturday, 16 November 2013 21:34

---

Franco Corelli – Opera Arias

01. Il Trovatore (Act III Ah sì, ben mio) 02. Il Trovatore (Act III Di quella pira) 03. Aida (Act I Se quel guerrier io fossi...Celeste Aida) 04. Cavalleria rusticana (Mamma, quel vino è generoso) 05. Turandot (Act III Nussun dorma!) 06. Roméo et Juliette (Act II L'amour! oui, son ardeur...Ah! leve-toi, soleil!) 07. Pagliacci (Act I Recitar!... Vesti la giubba) 08. Andrea Chénier (Act I Colpito qui m'avete...Un dì all' azzurro spazio) 09. Andrea Chénier! Coraggio!... Sì, Fui Soldato 10. Andrea Chénier (Come Un Bel Dì Di Maggio)

Born April 8, 1921, Corelli made his opera debut in 1951 at Spoleto as Don Jose in Bizet's "Carmen." He inaugurated the opera season at Milan's Teatro alla Scala three years later with Maria Callas, singing in Spontini's "La Vestale." He made his debut at the Royal Opera in London in 1957 as Cavaradossi in Puccini's "Tosca," becoming one of the world's finest spinto tenors.

He appeared frequently at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York, for many years his favorite venue. In all, Corelli sang 368 performances at the Met, where he made his debut on Jan. 27, 1961, as Manrico in Verdi's "Il Trovatore" opposite soprano Leontyne Price, who also made her house debut that night. His final performance with the Met was on tour in Puccini's "La Bohème" on June 28, 1975.

Corelli was a perfect romantic lead. A lyric tenor with great versatility, he also had a strapping and muscular build. As he developed his upper register, he took on and scored successes in all the great tenor roles, performing in Verdi's "Don Carlo," "La Forza del Destino," "Aida" and "Ernani," Puccini's "Turandot," and Giordano's "Andrea Chenier."

Franco Corelli – Opera Arias

Written by bluesever

Thursday, 22 October 2009 15:12 - Last Updated Saturday, 16 November 2013 21:34

---

He appeared in opera houses around the globe with such greats as Callas, with whom he had a special partnership for many years, Renata Tebaldi, Birgit Nilsson and Joan Sutherland.

As his voice aged, Corelli sang fewer operas and concentrated more on concerts. He retired in 1976, although he was present as a special guest in October 2002 at a Milan awards ceremony where he received a standing ovation. ---billboard.com download: uploaded anonfiles yandex gett 4shared solidfiles mediafire mega filecl

oudio

back