In the years before he died Zelenka set about composing a cycle of half a dozen masses of which this, the Missa Omnium Sanctorum ZWV 21 is the last. It's a grand scale affair with movements for chorus and instruments and some very fine solo arias. Sadly neither this nor his equally fine Missa Dei Patris were ever performed during Zelenka's lifetime as the new regime at the Dresden court where he had been fobbed off with the post chapel composer had decreed that Masses may not last longer than 45 minutes. Their loss is our gain – it's a fine piece of music on a magnificent scale and stuffed to the gills with musical interest. ---markfromireland, saturdaychorale.com
