Scott Hamilton – Apples and Oranges (1981)

1. So Little Time 2. Royal Orchid Blues 3. With Every Breath I Take 4. Silk Stockings 5. Do I Love You (Because You Are Beautiful) 6. My Silent Love 7. Ham Fat 8. Tenderly play

Musicians: Scott Hamilton – tenor sax, Jimmy Rowles - piano, Bob Maize, George Mraz - double-bass, Jake Hanna, Joe LaBarbera - drums.

When Scott Hamilton appeared in the mid-'70s fully formed with an appealing swing style on tenor (mixing together Zoot Sims and Ben Webster), he caused a minor sensation, for few other young players during the fusion era were exploring pre-bop jazz at his high level. He began playing when he was 16 and developed quickly, moving to New York in 1976. Hamilton played with Benny Goodman in the late '70s, but he has mostly performed as a leader, sometimes sharing the spotlight with Warren Vache, Ruby Braff, Rosemary Clooney, the Concord Jazz All-Stars, or George Wein's Newport Jazz Festival All-Stars. Other than a few sessions for Famous Door and Progressive, Hamilton has recorded a long string of dates for Concord that are notable for their consistency and solid swing. ---Scott Yanow, allmusic.com
