Grace Knight is one of Australia's finest vocalists with a stellar career spanning 35 years. Throughout her career Grace has embraced numerous musical genres demonstrating her skill and versatility. She created a storm with the 80's pop group, Eurogliders, where Grace achieved international success with the summer anthem of 1984 Heaven (Must Be There).

Grace's next musical incarnation had her recording the soundtrack and making an acting appearance in the 1990 ABC TV series 'Come In Spinner'. Recorded with Australian jazz great Vince Jones, Come In Spinner was an enormous success and went on to achieve triple platinum sales status. Grace's first solo album Stormy Weather was received with critical acclaim and confirmed Grace Knight as Australia's first lady of jazz.

Now in 2012, Grace Knight once again delivers a sublime album of cool jazz (I'm A Woman, Am I Blue, It Ain't Necessarily So), classic nostalgia (Sentimental Journey) as well as surprising with divine interpretations of Your Cheating Heart and Down By The Salley Gardens.

Grace's sixth solo album is the perfect cocktail party accompaniment so sit back, sip a cocktail and remember to Keep Cool Fool. --- abcmusic.com.au
