Amy Winehouse battled through heavy rain to deliver a stellar set at the first day of the Hove Festival tonight (June 26th) in Norway.

Taking to the stage just a few minutes late, Winehouse won the hearts of the Norwegian crowd with a medley of hits that borrowed heavily from her second album, 'Back To Black.'

Playing in soggy conditions – which have dogged the site since the festival got underway earlier this afternoon – the soul diva also pleased the crowds with energetic renditions of, ‘Rehab,’ ‘Back To Black,’ and ‘Mr Jones.’

Boisterous throughout, Winehouse twirled around the stage like a ballerina and joked with her vigorous backing singers as she finished with a cover of The Zutons’ ‘Valerie.’ ---gigwise.com
