Nat King Cole came to attention as a leading jazz pianist in the late 1930's. His trio of piano, guitar, & bass was emulated by many. In 1943, with his composition "Straighten Up and Fly Right", he had his first vocal hit. With his soft, baritone voice, Cole became an icon recording much mainstream, pop orientated material. One of the first African Americans to host a television variety show, "The Nat King Cole Show" premiered on November 5, 1956, on NBC. Inducted into Rock And Roll Hall of Fame in 2000 (Early Influence). ---discogs.com
