Tenor Saxophone – Don Byas Recorded: Live at Jazzclub Montmatre, Copenhagen, 13.01.1963

Don Byas was one of the great tenor saxophonists in jazz history but, due to his decision to move permanently to Europe in 1946, he remains very underrated in the jazz history books. This superlative set (in which he is backed by pianist Bent Axen, bassist Niels Pedersen and drummer William Schiöppfe) finds Byas stretching out in a club on five jazz standards; listen to him tear into "Anthropology" and "Billie's Bounce." It is hard to believe, listening to this heated music, that Byas (who would live until 1972) only would be recorded twice more as a leader. ---Scott Yanow, AllMusic Review
