

Nevio – Berlino 2011

Written by bluelover
Sunday, 31 July 2011 18:24 -

Nevio – Berlino 2011

1. oraieridomani 2. hey tu come stai 3. l'istinto 4. dimmi tu (the logical song) 5. maschera play 6. l'esploratore del tuo blu 7. berlino play 8. ancora vivo 9. cielo d'africa 10.
buenos dias 11. supercalifragilistichepsiralidosa 12. unshade my sun 13. you are the other me

Nevio Passaro (born May 11, 1980 in Bad Windsheim) is an Italo-German singer, musician and songwriter. He rose to fame after placing fourth in the third season of Deutschland sucht den Superstar, the German version of Pop Idol.

Passaro, son of Aniello (Italian) and Henrike (German), grew up in Neustadt an der Aisch and was raised bilingually: German and Italian are his mothertongues. He also speaks English and French languages fluently. In 2000-2005 studied "Modern languages for interpreter and translator" in Forlì, Italy. In 2006 finished his diploma thesis entitled "The coexistence of dative and genitive in the German language" and became officially qualified as a simultaneous interpreter. He used to play solo piano and guitar in his live performances. In 2006 he made a guest appearance in RTL Rock Mania Show played the piano and sang Bon Jovi's "Bed of Roses". In the same year at 2006 Nevio toured with his band which includes 9 musicians. He worked on his self-titled debut album Nevio in Germany and Italy. The result is a unique sounding album with styles ranging from jazz to rock, from pop to swing and several tracks in Italian, German and English. Nevio appeared in 2007 and entered the German Album Charts at Number 5 and the Austrian Charts at Number 7. The single "Amore per sempre" debuted at number 2 in the German Pop Charts. Amore per sempre is a rock/pop Song recorded in Italian and English.

download

Nevio – Berlino 2011

Written by bluelover
Sunday, 31 July 2011 18:24 -

back