I love early live ELO! I even have one of the BBC Transcription Services records of one of the shows and a CD of another. When I first got this set I was thrilled, but that was tempered by there being multiple obvious pops in 'Great Balls of Fire' (Disc 1-Track 11). Maybe they didn't have great audio software to try and DeClick it and I tried to manually do it with free audio software not long after I got it. Never could get a smooth result.

Now six years later I tried again and got it right this time! After my original multiple attempts I'm not sure what clicked in my brain this time to solve it rather quickly. I ended up just using Audacity since DeClick software did not remove them completely and distorted the applause at the end. I also removed a pop from 'Kuiama' and 'Mountain King' (Disc 1-10) (one loud pop each). For a legit commercial CD I would think they could have done something (as I compared my CD to downloads and they have the same pops). I originally thought it might be defective until the comparison.

I haven't checked Disc 2 again yet, but GBOF always stuck in my obsessive brain. Now I can burn my own clean version. I wish Eagle had saved me the trouble. The sound quality otherwise is EXCELLENT. My quest is complete...six years later. --- Doug Hazlewood, amazon.com
