Personnel: Tom Cawley (vocals, piano); Deborah Widdup, Charles Mutter, Roland Roberts, Alison Dods, Louisa Fuller, Martin Burgess, Clare Hayes, Kathy Shave, Odile Ollagnon, Ian Belton, Natalia Bonner, Ian Humphries, Rita Manning, Cathy Thompson, Jeremy Morris, Emma Parker (violin); Jon Thorne, Reiad Chibah, Fiona Bonds, Ian Rathbone, Paul Cassidy, Helen Kamminga (viola); Ian Burdge, Will Schofield, Nick Roberts, Caroline Dale, Jacqueline Thomas, Chris Worsley (cello); Eliza Marshall (flute, alto flute, piccolo); Jon Carnac (clarinet, bass clarinet); Alun Darbyshire (oboe); Sarah Burnett (bassoon); Dan Newell, Andy Crowley (trumpet, piccolo trumpet); Phil Woods, Nigel Black (French horn); Dan Jenkins, Tracy Holloway (tenor trombone); Mark Frost (bass trombone); David Powell (tuba); John Metcalfe (brass, celesta, percussion); Steve Rossell, Ben Russell, Chris Laurence, Richard Pryce (double bass); Joby Burgess, Rob Farrer (percussion).

Dispensing with the usual rock armory of guitars and drums, Peter Gabriel and the 46-piece New Blood Orchestra re-imagine some of Peter's best known songs with breathtaking orchestral arrangements that include "In Your Eyes" "Red Rain" "Rhythm of The Heat" and "Biko" – written in honor of anti-apartheid activist Stephen Biko (1946-1977). In addition, there are interpretations of Paul Simon's "The Boy in the Bubble" and Lou Reed's "The Power of the Heart".

Gabriel is a renowned live performer whose onstage charisma and instantly recognizable voice combine brilliantly with the orchestral sound palette to breathe a new sense of wonder into familiar songs.

A distinguished singer, musician, and songwriter, Gabriel rose to fame as the lead vocalist and flautist of the progressive rock group Genesis, before embarking on a successful solo career. Recently, he has focused on producing and promoting world music as well as pioneering digital distribution methods for music. In 2007, he was honored as a BMI Icon at the 57th annual BMI London Awards for his "influence on generations of music makers." Gabriel was also awarded the Polar Music Prize in 2009, and inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame as a member of Genesis in 2010. ---Staff, guitarinternational.com
