“Ally the Fiddle” is a band from North Germany. To describe a musical style you would surely use words, like folk, rocky, instrumental, progressive... The band builds a typical rock band, containing two guitars, a bass and drums. Unusually in the foreground stands the violin, but also the dialogue between guitar and fiddle. The violin mainly replaces the voice, but for sure the voice will not be missed out.

Most of the arrangements and compositions are based on Irish tunes, sometimes defamiliarized to unrecognizability. The band merely targets to wrest the violin from her classical prejudices and show her variability in the rock genre.

In the essence of her artist's career Ally Storch resolves in 2008 to come up with a first CD with own compositions and beloved tunes in own arrangements. Stefan “Huky” Hukriede immediately takes part of the recordings. He was playing for many years Irish Folk together with Ally. On the search for a guitarist Robert Klawonn becomes the first recommendation and the Co-writer for Ally. Still the CD is published under “Ally the Fiddle”, Ally's artist's name due her times as Folk fiddler.

After the recordings Robert invited guitarist Diemo Heuer and Huky bassist Thorsten Hartung to
