

Faith No More - Sol Invictus (2015)

Written by bluesever

Monday, 20 April 2015 16:30 - Last Updated Sunday, 25 February 2018 21:38

Faith No More - Sol Invictus (2015)

01. Sol Invictus 02. Superhero 03. Sunny Side Up 04. Separation Anxiety 05. Cone of Shame 06. Rise of the Fall 07. Black Friday 08. Motherfucker 09. Matador 10. From the Dead
Mike Bordin – drums Roddy Bottum – keyboards, vocals Billy Gould – bass guitar, producer, recording engineer Jon Hudson – guitar Mike Patton – vocals

Faith No More is dropping Sol Invictus , the band's first record since 1997's Album of the Year, and it's a pretty big deal.

In related news, keyboardist RoddyBottum said in a recent interview that Sol Invictus goes back to the band's roots. it's an interesting statement to make considering Mike Patton joined the group in 1988 and wasn't on the first two records. Not that anyone doubts Patton's ability to adapt vocally to any situation ever.

“I would say that it really does go back to our roots, and really gothic – it's really sort of in the dark and there's a lot of sombre tones on it. I get gut instincts from simple stripped down sounds, when we do that successfully, and for me there is a lot of those moments on the record. Like, not as dense as the place that we usually go and there's a lot of places with a really simple instrumentation and pianos – there is a lot of pianos – and a lot of really, concise smart lyrics that can be heard and understood. And those sort of places on the record are the strongest for me.”

Bottum also reveals the real reason Faith No More made a new record- they were bored. Seriously.

Faith No More - Sol Invictus (2015)

Written by bluesever

Monday, 20 April 2015 16:30 - Last Updated Sunday, 25 February 2018 21:38

"We got really bored with what we were doing and we also felt like there are a whole lot of people out there who look to us to be inspired and encouraged by what we do artistically. So to be doing old songs on a big stage with a lot of people watching over and over – it felt kind of cheap and easy and a little too safe of a place to be. That's not who we are. We've always pushed buttons and we've always rubbed against the grain and we've always challenged things."

Bottum could have said they made the new record for basically any reason and we'd still be chomping at the bit to hear it much like we are right now. --- metalinjection.net download (mp3 @320 kbs):

yandex mediafire uloz.to cloudmailru

back