Lance Wakely is the one and almost only Dr. Harmonica. Blues man, songwriter, record producer busker extraordinaire and general all around trouble maker and occasional pain in the ass to those who have the misfortune to piss him off. He's been making music since long before he was born and intends to keep doing so long after he's gone. Originally from California, but has been living in Europe these last 30 odd years. You're likely to find him somewhere in Norway during the summer, playing in the middle of a walking street generally disturbing the shop keepers but pleasing the pedestrians with screaming electric guitar riffs, wailing harmonica sounds, driving bass rhythms, pounding drums, original clever lyrics and a voice that can cause dogs to howl, babies to cry and woman to get weak with desire. ---about.me
