

Lightnin' Hopkins & Sonny Terry - Got To Move Your Baby (1961)

Wpisany przez bluesever

Wtorek, 24 Lipiec 2012 16:32 - Zmieniony Czwartek, 01 Kwiecień 2021 13:31

Lightnin' Hopkins & Sonny Terry - Last Night Blues (1961)

A1 Rocky Mountain A2 Got To Move Your Baby A3 So Sorry To Leave You A4 Take A Trip With Me B1 Last Night Blues B2 Lightnin's Stroke B3 Hard To Love A Woman B4 Conversation Blues (Vocals – Sonny Terry) Lightnin' Hopkins – vocals, guitar Sonny Terry – harmonica Leonard Gaskin – bass Belton Evans – drums

Outside of Blind Lemon Jefferson, Lightnin' Hopkins may be Texas's most distinctive and influential blues export. His easy, fluid fingerpicking and witty, extemporaneous storytelling are always a delight, and his performances on LAST NIGHT BLUES are no exception. The album is spare and acoustic, with Hopkins's voice and guitar accompanied by minimal percussion and Sonny Terry's harmonica.

Terry's contributions really add a lot to these tunes, threading a high, lonesome whine on the downtempo tunes and a chugging, propulsive shuffle on the faster ones. Hopkins is, of course, one of the kings of the blues boogie, but he's equally compelling on the slow blues, and he never missteps throughout this fine set. All told, this dynamite disc represents what the blues should be: stripped-down, soulful, and full of truth. ---allmusic.com download (mp3 @320 kbs):

yandex mediafire ulozto solidfiles global.files

Lightnin' Hopkins & Sonny Terry - Got To Move Your Baby (1961)

Wpisany przez bluesever

Wtorek, 24 Lipiec 2012 16:32 - Zmieniony Czwartek, 01 Kwiecień 2021 13:31

back