Known for his distinctive tremolo guitar sound, Chicago blues legend Samuel “Magic Sam” Maghett made a big splash on the blues scene beginning with his first record "All Your Love," which was released in 1957. His career was cut short when he suffered a fatal heart attack at the age of 32 in 1969. His guitar style, vocals, and unique songwriting have inspired and influenced many blues musicians over the years. Presented here are rare recordings featuring all original compositions, including “West Madison Street Blues,” “Chi-Town Boogie” and “Black Magic Blues.” All selections have been newly remastered. --- megaonlinestore.com
