

T-Bone Walker - T-Bone Blues (1959)

Wpisany przez bluesever

Poniedziałek, 08 Luty 2010 12:34 - Zmieniony Poniedziałek, 08 Lipiec 2013 11:50

T-Bone Walker - T-Bone Blues (1959)

- * 1. Papa Ain't Salty
- * 2. Why Not
- * 3. T-Bone Shuffle
- * 4. Play on Little Girl
- * 5. T-Bone Blues Special
- * 6. Mean Old World
- * 7. T-Bone Blues
- * 8. Stormy Mond
- * 9. Blues for Marili
- * 10. Shufflin' the Blues
- * 11. Evening
- * 12. Two Bones and a Pick
- * 13. You Don't Know What You...
- * 14. How Long Blues
- * 15. Blues Rock

Musicians: T-Bone Walker - Guitar, Vocals Oscar Lee Bradley - Drums Eddie Chamblee - Sax (Tenor) Joe Comfort - Bass Mack Easton - Sax (Baritone) Goon Gardner - Sax (Alto) Ralph J. Gleason Liner Notes Lloyd Glenn - Piano William K. "Billy" Hadnott - Bass LeRoy Jackson - Drums Plas Johnson - Sax (Tenor), Saxophone Ray Johnson - Piano Raymond Johnson - Piano Barney Kessel - Guitar Ransom Knowling - Bass Earl Palmer - Drums R.S. Rankin - Guitar Jimmy Rogers - Guitar Junior Wells - Harmonica John Young – Piano

The last truly indispensable disc of the great guitar hero's career, and perhaps the most innately satisfying of all, these mid-'50s recordings boast magnificent presence, with T-Bone Walker's axe so crisp and clear it seems as though he's sitting right next to you as he delivers a luxurious remake of "Call It Stormy Monday." Atlantic took some chances with Walker, dispatching him to Chicago for a 1955 date with Junior Wells and Jimmy Rogers that produced "Why Not" and "Papa Ain't Salty." Even better were the 1956-1957 L.A. dates that produced the scalding instrumental "Two Bones and a Pick" (which finds Walker dueling it out with nephew R.S.

T-Bone Walker - T-Bone Blues (1959)

Wpisany przez bluesever

Poniedziałek, 08 Luty 2010 12:34 - Zmieniony Poniedziałek, 08 Lipiec 2013 11:50

Rankin and jazzman Barney Kessel). ---Bill Dahl, Rovi

download: uploaded anonfiles mega 4shared mixturecloud yandex mediafire zidd
u

back