Jascha Heifetz – violin Gregor Piatigorsky – cello (7-14) Los Angeles Philharmonic Alfred Wallenstein – conductor (1-3) Dallas Symphony Orchestra Walter Hendl – conductor (4-6) RCA Victor Orchestra Donald Voorhees – conductor (15)

The Rózsa violin concerto is one of my favorite pieces and this is, beyond all doubt, the best recorded performance of this far-too-neglected work. I do have one quibble with Maestro Heifetz's performance: he rushes the central theme of the middle movement a bit; I would love to have heard him "sing" it a bit more, at a slightly slower tempo -- a bit more tenderness and longing -- because it is such a moving melody.

The other pieces on this disc are also wonderful, especially the Korngold. I respectfully disagree with the earlier reviewer about the Korngold being too cliché and corny, but as the old Romans said, "De gustibus non disputandum est."

If you are a Heifetz fan, or these three great masters of film music, you can't go wrong with this
