

Maria Callas Live in London 1958 and 1959 [2002]

Wpisany przez bluesever

Poniedziałek, 21 Luty 2011 19:38 - Zmieniony Poniedziałek, 10 Luty 2014 10:55

---

Maria Callas Live in London 1958 and 1959 [2002]

01. Vissi d'arte [Giacomo Puccini - Tosca, Act II] play
02. Una voce poco fa [Gioachino Rossini - Il barbiere di Siviglia, Act I]
03. Casta diva [Vincenzo Bellini - Norma, Act I]
04. Un bel di vedremo [Giacomo Puccini - Madama butterfly, Act II] play
05. Sì. Mi chiamano Mimì [Giacomo Puccini - La bohème, Act I]
06. L'altra notte in fondo al mare [Arrigo Boito - Mefistofele, Act II]
07. Una macchia è qui tuttora [Giuseppe Verdi - Macbeth, Act IV]
08. Oh! s'io potessi dissipar le nubi [Vincenzo Bellini - Il Pirata, Act II]

London Symphony Orchestra
Nicola Rescigno – conductor

The sound really gets in the way on this disc. In fact, it is terrible. Still, it is worth listening as hard as you can in order to take in Callas' truly nightmarish Sleepwalking Scene from Macbeth. Puccini was only infrequently included in her recital programs; here we have her Tosca, Mimì, and Butterfly, and Callas sounds a little uncomfortable in the last of these. Even "Casta diva" no longer sounds as secure as it did previously. Callas' vocal difficulties, including wobbling high notes, became more troublesome as the 1950s progressed, and there is ample evidence of them here. Still, in the scenes from Macbeth, Mefistofele, and Il pirata ("Oh! s'io potessi dissipar le nubi") we hear how Callas' ability to realize a role's dramatic potential fully became more powerful, the more that the voice itself was compromised.

download: uploaded filecloudio anonfiles yandex 4shared mediafire solidfiles mega nornar

Maria Callas Live in London 1958 and 1959 [2002]

Wpisany przez bluesever

Poniedziałek, 21 Luty 2011 19:38 - Zmieniony Poniedziałek, 10 Luty 2014 10:55

---

back